Web Design

All creation of files remain the intellectual property of Sticky Sites on, before and after completion of a Web Design project with the exclusion, only if stated by the client on delivery of, any images, references or text documents provided by the client for the purpose of the website’s creation.

Upon completion of a custom website design and payment of web design and development fees, the client is the owner of the commissioned website. The client may continue to use the commissioned website to promote the client’s company or organization regardless of whether he/she chooses to continue further services with Sticky Sites. The client does not have the right to resell the design or development to other companies. The client does have the right to add pages onto the existing site or have another company add pages onto the existing site using the commissioned website design/development. The client does not have permission to reuse pieces of our work in a redesigned website that gives another company design credit.

Sticky Sites shall be free to use, disclose, display, create derivative works of, distribute, transmit and reproduce any item from any web site created for any customer or client unless stated otherwise upon the payment for the web site.

Although we will try to estimate a timeframe for the development of your project it is impossible for us to provide any guarantees in relation to this. All advertised timeframes should be used as a guide only and you should not plan any launches, materials or anything else based around a specific date. Sticky Sites cannot be held responsible for any delays caused to your project. A project delay cannot be used as a reason for cancellation without financial penalty to the client.

You must supply all materials and information required by us to complete the work in accordance with any agreed specification and timescale. Such materials may include, but are not limited to, photographs, written copy, logos and other printed material. Where there is any delay in supplying these materials to us which leads to a delay in the completion of work, we have the right to extend any previously agreed deadlines by a reasonable amount. Where you fail to supply materials, and that prevents the progress of the work, we have the right to invoice you for any part or parts of the work already completed.

Sticky Sites reserves the right to cancel any project in which the client is unavailable due to long term absence of 14 days or more, making communication necessary to the completion of the project difficult unless prior written notice has been given and all balances on the client account settled.

On completion of the work stages you will be notified and have the opportunity to review it. You must notify us in writing of any unsatisfactory points within 14 days of such notification. Any of the work which has not been reported in writing to us as unsatisfactory within the 14-day review period will be deemed to have been approved. Once approved, or deemed approved, work cannot subsequently be rejected and the contract will be deemed to have been completed.

The client unconditionally guarantees that all content whether it be an image, text, animations, graphics or any other form of artwork presented to Sticky Sites for the form of inclusion in the web design project is owned by the client or the client has permission or license from the rightful owner of said elements and will hold responsibility and defend Sticky Sites and its affiliates from any suit or claim which arises from the use of said elements provided by the client.

Sticky Sites reserves the right to display up to three screenshots of your website on Sticky Site's design portfolio as an example of work and creative style.

All websites designed by Sticky Sites require a design credit link pointing to <https://Adult.StickySites.net> in the footer area next to the copyright. It is prohibited to remove or modify this link unless expressly permitted by Sticky Sites.

Invoicing and Payment

The total design fee payable under our proposal is due immediately upon you instructing us to proceed with the website design and development work. We reserve the right not to commence any work until the design fee has been paid in full. The design fee is only refundable if we have not fulfilled our obligations to deliver the work required under the agreement. The deposit is not refundable if the development work has been started and you terminate the contract through no fault of ours.

Our website development phase is flexible and allows certain variations to the original specification. However any major deviation from the specification will be charged at the rate of US$100.00 per hour.

Sticky Sites reserves the right to close all accounts on purchasers failing to make full payment of monthly hosting and maintenance fees within 14 days of invoicing for a period of one year after payment of the initial Design Fee. After such time, the purchaser loses all rights to their designs and Sticky Sites reserves the right to re-use parts or all of the design in future projects.
